
hello people [3/14/21]

WELCOME TO MY CRAPPY BOOK!!!!

this is where i dump all of my au ideas and stuff so expect a lotta doodles and stuffAHFWHGWLEDGW because im too scared to ramble infront of friends and talk about my headcanosn wehn its nto proper to :< but!! yeah i have a lot of ideas and stuff and i'd love to talk about them somewhere.

I'll probably keep this like a journal and title them like:

INSERT GENERAL IDEA OF WHATS ITS ABOUT [DATE]

i'm oddly excited for this because it's like a ramble diary and that sounds really coolSKGLHSLZHFGWEGWE anyways! welcome to entry 1 where i'm talking about uh. stuff. yeah.

as i'm writing this, today is pi day and i promised to redraw the 2020 drawing which is:

which also means its been way over a year that ive been actively in the bfb wattpad community and i think that's pretty neat!! i mean most of my books suck and im kinda :0 because thats a lot of time AHFWEGWEG anyways if you want the redraw scroll up like 5 seconds and you should see it. personally, pie is kinda one where i can't bring myself to like her nor hate her for any reason (besides maybe being bland BUT MORE HCS HAHAHAG) it's interesting how little care she shows while also being one of the only people to care for her team's objective ; which is preventing death! i mean she kinda saved my girl liy by stuffing her in part of the exitor group and YOU KNOW HOW MUCH I LOVE THEM IM GONNA RAMBLE ABOUT THEM A LOT HERE.

i just realized nobody is probably going to read this and im sad now because im gonna probably talk a lot here and update this book frequently :(but HEY TOO FUCKING BAD I EXIST AND YOU WILL NOT STOP ME. honestly i really love just rambling so?? this book really helps with that (oh god what will happen if i fill up this shit of a book)

i should remake this tierlist it's really outdated

but then again things would probably not change cuz most of my books are kinda the same and TWO OF THEM ARE DELETED ONE OF WHICH I WANNA KEEP WRITING BUT LOOOOL GUESS WHO LEAKED WHAT HAPPENED points at self god i hate myselflA;FLW;JGWW well uh. i think thats it, kinda late haha. exitors are epik have a nice day/afternoon/evening my dear readers~

Concepting for EXITronpa [3/17/21]

So.

The EXIT. Also known as my favorite place with the best cast of characters to write. It's quite obvious I like them due to the current name I have on my profile and I'd love to discuss about them. Though, this isn't quite the time to discuss about CANON. I would like to discuss about EXITronpa. Also known as my best currently standing book. Sure, I may speak about this book at times but I'd like to make a few chapters once in awhile discussing about it. Even if I repeat information.

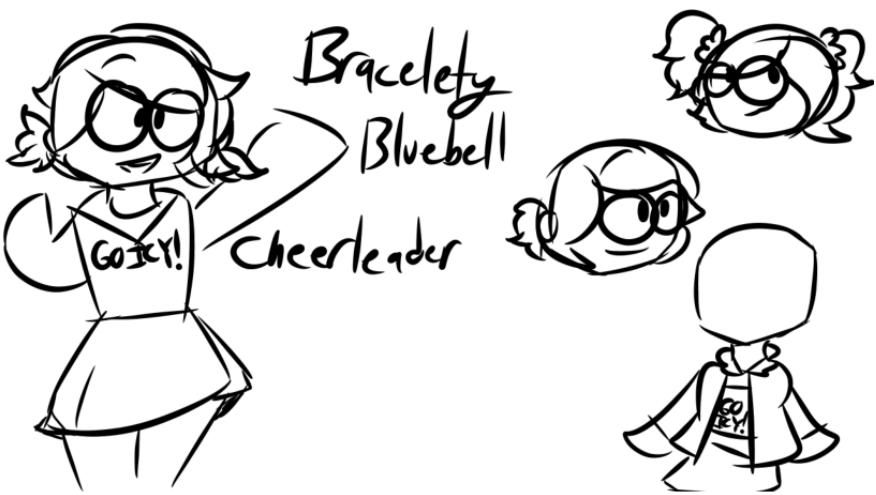
It isn't quite done but I will definitely revisit ideas I had intended once Chapter 5 & 6 are finished. Since the book is over halfway, I think I'm free to discuss about the earlier chapters and how I figured out the talents and designs for each character. Let's begin now, shall we? This MAY be split up into multiple parts due to me probably sending multiple images and not having enough room on a singular chapter.

The first 2 characters I actually designed are the two current protaganists, Pencil & Leafy:

uh.
Pencil Lead
Vlogger

I began concepting this on June 18th, 2020. I've always liked the idea of the eliminated contestants and them being the cast of characters because haha funny danganronpa takes place in school and the only place that's basically a school is the EXIT so that's where that idea came from. Most of their talents were quite easy, I mostly just used ideas from friends or based it off of their object / personality.

I actually designed them based off of elimination order! (I still can name all of the pre-split eliminations to this day) so, I presented them in said order. Here are the concepts for the other two girls. I'll probably show the others someday but not right now.



The hardest two to make up talents were definitely Balloony and Firey Jr at the time, but I knew I didn't want to change them because I really did want to stay true to the elimination order. I was also really impatient and decided to just assume who'd be eliminated next (THIS WAS DURING THE WAIT FOR BFB 21) which I happened to guess was Gelatin because there was a trend where Have Cots and Have Nots were losing in a pattern. SADLY, Taco ended up losing and

I felt bad so I stuffed her in there. I'm still upset that i predicted gelatin SO WRONG HOW DID HE MAKE THE FINAL 2 LMAO???

Now for the first case!

I had always intended for Stapy to be dead in the first chapter because firstly i absolutely hate him and i still do and i refused to write him and ALSO because his talent in general was suspicious. Spongy just happened to be the victim most likely because I couldn't figure out what to do for him in later chapters so. In fact! Most of the murders haven't changed (besides uh chapter 5 i changed that mid-book LOL ill explain what the original was intended to be once the book is finished) Stapy was also always intended to make a fear garden reference when killing Spongy with the whole hand thing. I mostly thought it'd be funny.

I think the only thing I'm truly unhappy with for the first chapter was the trial and THE EXECUTION. I really do want to rewrite that because I cringe to this day over Nine's appearance because I was planning for like an agrebalien to appear each execution but i thought "nah thats cringe" so expect a rewrite of that eventually so I can cover the tracks of nine even existing there. but uhhh ill probably figure out something else :) he's still gonna get buried alive fuck yeah that was cool

Though, I do remember that the chapter 3 motive was changed to absolutely nothing because roboty is a petty bitch AJOSHKGAZHXLWGWE unfortunately I do not remember or have the records to what the original motive was so I sadly can't touch on that. It was always planned for Roboty and Firey Jr to be friends and for Jr to eventaully kill in revenge for Roboty. How Firey Jr was going to kill and the evidence was mixed, though.

Jr was originally supposed to have an agrument with Balloony (or someone else) but I felt that was way too obvious if the protaganist at the time (Pencil) was present and watching. Though it was fairly early on I would decide he would kill him. I mostly wanted Roboty to kill Leafy because I felt like he'd have some sort of grudge against her which is why I chose him for Ch 3.

I don't even remember what appealed for me to decide whatever the hell happened in ch 2. I think I mostly wanted to have a heartbreaking death and I decided fairly early on David and Dora would have some sort of clsoe association (even though theyre rivals in canon) like idk?? Close friends but eventually I decided siblings because hehe theyre both hoomans in objecc world.

oh also i decided to make it humanized because

1. i wanted to practice them
2. danganronpa had humans so
3. more brutal deaths :)))))))))))))))))))))))))))))))))

There were also some last name changes! Though I'm not in the mood to really express what the original were. Again probably a thing with the end of the book discussion.

I've decided for the longest time Liy would be a "???" talent, where her talent would be shared later. Due to her not being dead (yet???? i cant spoil much) I will not express her current or past talents, BUT i will say that she has had at least one or two talent changes. She was also intended to be the past protaganist of the book until I decided to switch it someone less interesting aka leafy because fuck leafy!!!

Now for Monoroku. He was HARD. I mostly improvised his final design but his original design was intended to be a lot more casual and not as "professional." also his name was somewhat hard but it was mostly just taking latin terms that meant six. monosex :)

Manakoru

there was also a huge debate on who we'd choose as our 16th student because we needed it in order to start the book. We were tied between Gelatin, Blocky, and Bubble. I was really hoping Loser wouldn't get out in 21 (because he was one of my favorites at the time & he was already eliminated before so that wouldn't help my book.) There was also a bit of talking about Taco (who actually ended up getting eliminated) and I didn't add her even though gender

also a lot of the executions were time-based but we had to change that because variety. Here are the notable ones:

similiar to sayaka's scrapped execution. the arena is surrounded by large walls that could crush him at any moment. he must hit a hammer on one of those, carnival test your strength thingies to keep them down. he forced to try this multiple times to get it to the highest rank of it. eventually Six destroys the meter leaving it to cause a failure and the walls slam onto firey jr, crushing him.

It starts with what's similar to Roboty looking at the remaining classmates nervously, sweating before turning around swiftly and running out of the trial room to instead of the regular school hallway is a room transformed into soemthing similar to crossy road. Instead of a fucking street and shit, it's all black, and the logs / obstacles you can step on are white morse code bits that says "GIVE UP" or messages to tell Roboty to stop now and die from above. By this time, Firey Jr and Roboty prob made a bond between one another of being assholes. As Roboty tries to cross to the other side, each row's platforms start to get smaller and smaller to the point where he has to be on his tip-toes just to keep balance. Firey Jr tries to follow him, telling him to stop and to save him. Roboty soon slips, and Firey Jr tries to grab him, only managing to miss by just a inch and watching as Roboty falls to his death into an dark void. (This inspires FJ to kill next as a way to avenge him)

[insert more executions then slowly realizes it spoilers]

It was really difficult to figure out how many survivors there'd be. There was originally going to be 3 until Taco came along and said "hi mf please add 4 we need a good ratio" so now there's 4 survivors planned :D

Now for Gelatin. OH BOY WAS HE HARD.

He was stuck between Ultimate Cosplayer, Rapper, Comedian, and Performer. We soon decided Comedian because haha he funnie. We were going to do cosplayer but lets be honest here I really did want to try to avoid any of the same talents comapred to canon dr so,,

There we go! He was pretty hard but the final concepts were:

Basically his current design I couldn't decide much. It was a topic to make him dress like a clown or like?? with a more formal wear with a suit and all. Otherwise, he was fairly easy to design and the cast was about finalized once we got Gelatin in.

The planning of the book took multiple days, up to about like a week or so of constant thought and those were just the talents, designs, general murders, etc. I usually plan out the murders once I reach the chapter (I haven't decided anything for ch 5 yet besidse the execution and who go stabby stabby LOL) so there's about it!

overall, there were a lot of concepts scrapped. Though, it slowly inched towards a much better book in general and I'm happy to say that this is a book I wrote! Thank you for reading this documentary / journal entry. Have a lovely day/afternoon/evening!! :D

apologies for not many updates, I really wanted to find a good topic to discuss about because I'm probably going to repeat myself multiple times because like.. I have this thing where I like to go back on past topics and add more things I remembered to it. So, why not something new? Aka, my newest AU! I've been concepting this a lot and I have a bit to explain to how their gimmicks or so work. For now, I think I should show the swaps that are currently in place! Please note these are based off of opposing personalities.

NOTE FOR THE SPEAKER BOXES. The names for the speakerboxes are based off the characters they had swapped with, so for example, The Flower Speaker Box has been renamed to Book Speaker Box in place of Flower and Book swapping. It kinda fits better for the AU :]

First I'll show off some concepts such as teams & dyanmic doodles before moving onto discussing in detail about specific dynamics or so. Some of these are based off of headcanons so bear with me here.

OBJECT GIMMICKS:
-Golfball and Ice Cube's appearances change due to their swap so: Golfball is dimpleless until 14 where Team Golfball asks for Golfball to fuck off but she refuses, making Bracelety Speaker Box use a spiked baseball bat to make her leave. Ice Cube, on the other hand, most likely is small for the entire franchise due to most likely an IDFB flashback that probably made her melt or something in a traumatic experience and gave her the small size she has now.

-Tree being stuck inside of Bottle:
Basketball gets stuffed into Donut's mouth but was a really tight fit so she can't get out. When Pie is swapped into Basketball she probably ends up ripping Donut into bits while trying to make herself more room in the uncomfortable situation. in 12 they probably find out it wasnt actualyl basketball because pie panicks later on about how she killed someone on accident and the point of death capt was to cause death so

-Firey Jr. Speakerbox is X in this case and X hides into Fries' container for a decent amount of time until Gelatin catches him: Since Pen is swapped with Fries, I decided to assume Firey Jr Speakerbox probably got underneath his cap and hid in there. Though, it was noticable to Bubble (who is Gelatin) and she keeps on pointing it out when shes trying to write with him. OH also in place of everyone wnting to eat fries everyone wants to write with pen.

-8-Ball's "I don't have a favorite number" gimmick applied to Ruby: Instead of number, it's song. Mostly because everyone keeps on joking around with Ruby singing two trucks and all. When Ruby gets crushed by the moon, Pillow (in place of Saw) ends up finding one and putting one inside of her pillow case. This probably makes her say "YAAAY" or something along those lines like how Ruby says it.

-Rocky's barf:
Since Foldy is swapped with Rocky, Foldy probably has this thing where she ends up spitting out scraps of paper in place of Rocky's barf (which he still has but uses it to move himself for the most part now due to Foldy being able to float in the air) It mostly works like a cat barfing out a furball.

-Clock & Lighnting's gimmicks swapped:
Due to Clock and Lightning both having gimmicks, which is Clock's "hands" and Lightning's zaps, I have chosen to swap them but make it so that the power on each are different to match with the other's original state. So like instead of lightning paralyzing maybe its just more of a forceful but not so paralyzing shock for clock's hands maybe its so powerful it can stun people perhaps.

-Liy snapping:
This is quite difficult due to Liy having her lightswitch gimmick while Pencil having nothing. I would say that in place of this maybe Pencil takes out a sharpener and sharpens herself, threatening to stab them with it. Since I think Pencil would probably be on the more dull end in her first appearance.

-Firey Jr and Firey being swapped:
This is kinda not really a gimick thing more of their names. Since Firey Jr is now Firey and Firey's now Firey Jr, the names wouldn't make as much sense. I don't actually have any clue on how this'd work as I considered just having FJ's regular name be Firey and Firey renamed to Firey Sr. but this is not offical yet, opinions on this would certainly be nice.

-Announcer building Puffball Speaker Box:
Since PF is the Announcer and PSB is now Four, I believe that when Bracelety won her prize (which probably in this AU BSB would have been built later on with the help of the more technological perhaps) by having an actual host come in. Since PF's the announcer he probably ends up calling Four to take the job.

-Stapy's Staples:
As we all know, Stapy has a unique gimmick where people could press down on him like a stapler and he takes out a staple. This also means that Liy uses one of his staples to open the door we see in TPOT 1. In place, I believe Pencil would most likely just use RF's wiry hands to unlock the door.

-Evil Leafy & Profily's Swap:
These two are going to be really hard to explain because they are in completely different parts of the show but I think I can try to explain how they work like this:
evil leafy comes in as bfb 26 with the intent to maybe kill all of them (and has been trying since bfdi) by pretending to be a contsetant but probably gets accepted by the others and is probably just surprised over the fact that they like competing and maybe just vibes with the others but still acts really cryptid and a bitch towards the others at times?
profily on the other hand probably is just a lonely fan abandonded in the forest just desperate for love and probably chases the people down in the forest for their attention

-Yellowface & Cloudy's Swap:
The two are quite different but similar the same time. Yellowface is definitely not the most sane but does not have a business to cover up his shenagians. He purely creates things to reign chaos and gain the upper hand while Cloudy on the other hand is the one to own a business and it's like a charity of sorts. He collects things and sells them to others. He's overall seemingly wholesome.

That's all for this section for now! If there's anymore, I'll definitely probably add onto this in a future chapter. Now! For my favorite and probably going to be like 1k words of text part. Dynamics. There's a lot you can do with the personalities and already-existing dynamics these characters are forced into and I'd love to explore that. Let's get started!

CHARACTER DYNAMICS

-Golfball & 8-Ball's Rivalry:
[Golfball as Ice Cube & 8-Ball as Ruby]
Ice Cube's form of leadership in this AU is sabotaging over teams for revenge and being overall spiteful. Ruby is most likely more of a pacifist and disagrees. She probably makes the others realize this and gains team leadership for a bit as she makes comamnds going against Icy's vengeful nature. Loser probably also has a part in this but easily gives up because he couldn't use his "charm" or his smooth-talking to give Icy back her position as team leader.

-Price Tag & Naily's relationship:
[Price Tag as Winner & Naily as Woody]
Woody is probably a scaredy-cat in general and probably is anxious and awkward around others. He does have a little courage after helping talking Naily into going through the lava into the exit with Spongy. Winner probably notices him being awkward and all, and with them being overshadowed and left in the dakr they are probably fearful and awkward aswell. They probably bond over that, with Saw joining as their third wheel because Saw is also really awkward in canon.

-Lollipop's Rivalry against Barf Bag & Yellowface [Lollipop as Barf Bag (and vice versa) & Yellowface as Cloudy]
Their "rivalry" with the whole business thing in canon is like Barf Bag's "company" researches on the unknown and shes trying to prove that cloudy isnt as great as he seems. I like to believe that Lollipop is quite aware that Cloudy isn't the greatest guy and is just trying to seem like a good guy but as someone who enjoys knowing everything she goes against Barf Bag in attempt to "disprove" her claims. (This would be the scene in BFB 3 where Barf Bag tries to tell Lollipop that she isn't stupid.)
Cloudy is seemingly a perfectly good guy, being nice and all. Though it does appear he might have ulterior motives and so..

-Liy's past & her rivalry with Stapy and Foldy [Liy as Pencil, Stapy as Robot Flower, & Foldy as Rocky] Pencil most likely has a dark past with leadership and being an abusive and bad leader (like she was in canon BFB.) Both Robot Flower and Rocky were probably apart of this team that she had lead and had both grown a grudge against her ever since. They never forgave her but bonded overtime to become close friends. Pencil probably wanted to let go of this and have a 2nd chance at leadership but with the experience she had gained to change for the better.

I think that's all I have for now! Not very much but I'm quite proud of how the AU has been shaping up. Overall there's a lot to explore and I'll be sure to write down logs for the continuing developing of this AU here. I intend on attempting to make TPOT teams next time.
Thanks for reading!
Have a nice day/afternoon/evening.

BFB 30 Thoughts [4/11/21]

[COPY & PASTED FROM MY YOUTUBE]

OH YEAH BFB 30... i forgot to talk about that. Of course, this is the post for that! MAJOR spoilers for it so please watch it before you check the rest of this post out!! ^^

The season finale, huh?It's been a wild journey and I have a lot to express. I'm going to miss the hell out of season 4, ngl. It's been crazy from the beginnings in 2017 to the split. I've first watched bfb and voted the day the episode had come out and being here now with a mark in the community and seeing the beloved show I remember end in such a nice way feels nice. I have a lot to unpack in this 40+ minute finale so let's get this shit started!

-Flower's Win Originally I was against Flower winning, as I was rooting for Gelatin to win. I do believe her method to get to that win was unfair with the writer's bias, clearly shown in 29 when they decided to write her saving the show. It honestly hurt to watch Gelatin lose without even a close vote as Flower was in the lead from the beginning. Though, my opinion has shaped a bit since 30. I'm really glad Flower has proven she's changed by giving the prizes away and embracing that her win was with the friends she made along the way. I felt really happy for Flower, knowing that she's a changed character and that she could spend the time with Gelatin and her other friends happily.

-ExitorsOH SHIT I DID NOT EXPECT THEM TO BE IN THIS EPISODE AT ALL. I am so glad they added them in, it felt like a nice reminder of their existence because TPOT sure isn't coming out and it's been debated if the crack was Four (which uh obviously is the answer) or the Exitors. I'm still quite worried but it is really interesting how Four chose to imagine the Exitors in his little imagination. Also you don't wanna know how disturbing it felt for me to see them just group up and go against Four, verbally bashing him. It really does hurt to see Four tell himself these sorta things and the fact it comes from the Exitors specifically sells that. I'm happy with the screentime they got and they did feel really fake and I believe that was the point.

-Firey & Leafy's ConclusionI don't even know what to say. Sure, it felt sorta like fanservice but.. It felt nice. It felt nice to see their relationship develop and them getting back together as friends... I don't ship them. I don't ship them romantically at all nor should they be imo. I love them platonically. They're such good friends and it feels nice to see a healed friendship and them as good friends again. It gives me a feeling of nostalgia and niceness. They moved on and them finding their own dream island just.. Oh, that felt really heartwarming.. The backgrounds for the ending scenes with them sailing off also was nice, and the reference of the boat was also great. Overall, I like this conclusion and I hope the best to their adventures.

-Four & His Confrontation This... Now, this was the highlight of the entire episode. I'm shocked how Four was handled and I need to admit. It is realistic as fuck. I don't want to get into much detail but I know how it feels to be in Four's position, thinking you are unwanted and uncared for. Four pushing everyone away and running away was something I used to do frequently and how Four acted impulsively was so realistic and it hit me hard. It's nice to know that they aren't treating Four as some innocent saint (for the most part) and I do appreciate the contestants and partially X confronting their ab-ser. Gelatin's confrontation hit hard. The scene was amazing and I will never forget that scene.I love Four. He is so complex and so relatable that it hurts. The only thing I have that is basically my main complaint about the episode is that the resolution felt so quick and it hurt. It hurt to see Four get redeemed so easily while in the real world, it isn't that easy. It's a minor complaint and I can't really blame post-split for not being able to go with a sastifactory ending because it's better then none. I just wish there was more consequences for his actions. Overall, I am so glad to see more backstory on Four and everything about him. He feels great and so real now, I am going to most likely be rewatching bfb to investigate Four's situation in greater detail.

-PurplefaceHE ROCKED THIS EPISODE!! Oh my god I love Purpleface so much. I feel mixed opinions after a lot of things but I like looking at the pros for this. Purpleface was amazing. I loved his behavior and him stealing the BFDI was pretty funny to me. I think they nailed his character really well with this and I can't express how great he was. One of my favorite parts of the episode was actually Spongy and Purpleface's interactions. It felt charming to me in a way, I absolutely adore him.Give the dude his payment!! >:D He had a completely reasonable motive to steal the BFDI, even if it was a bit bold. I think that's the point of his character though, haha. I hope to see Pf more because honestly he deserves a lot more.

-Extra Points~Balloony: I love him so much he did so well. I still prefer him in the EXIT out of all places but he did really act like the balancing point out of everyone else here! Also don't get me started on the "Choo Choo" part.~Profily: I don't think they did that much this episode, but I like their contributions! It was funny seeing the scene go back to them and they're just having their own fun. I also noticed that they were the only contestant who hadn't went for the prize or after Four, dividing the other contestants in half.~Season 6?!: It'd be interesting to see what they do for the hypothetical next season. Whatever it'll be, I'll be waiting! I love BFDI and I don't really want to let that go, so I'll be excited for the future of that.~Spongy: HE WAS SO GOOD THIS EPISODE. I love his snarky personality a lot, though I could get why people don't like him for that. He was just better like that imo.

-ConclusionBFB 30 was great.I was on vacation at the time so I literally spent the time walking around and watching 30 with my headphones on. It felt nice to watch all of it and just enjoy it for what it was. I love post-split, hell, I prefer it more then TPOT. I'm gonna miss it a lot so, here's the end of a chapter and possibly the start of a new one.

Also for the above drawing, it's just a WIP of a screenshot redraw I had for 30. I'll probably post the final product on my artbook :)

That's it for my thoughts! Thanks for reading and have a nice day / afternoon / evening!

The Final Notes of Exitronpa 1 [10/4/21]

...jesus i haven't used this book much, have i?

well, this is mostly just concepts and shit anyways. mostly a place where if i want to ramble things out to the world, i'll put it here. so let's get started, shall we? This is a continuation of the previous exitronpa log, so there's a lot of details there that won't be spoken about here to save time and not to repeat myself.

she's been offically revealed as the ultimate investigator, but she has had MULTIPLE talent swaps throughout the book before finally landing on that. i don't precisely remember all of them but inventor (the first perceived talent) was 100% one of them, though was scrapped and was used as a decoy. I think there was also maniuplator and much more that I cannot remember for the life of me.

overall, a lot of changes were during the book. One of which was Taco and the new status check image? I suppose? Well, the original was intended to be like this at the end:

Now, this might be VERY surprising information but there was a major change in Chapter 5 + 6 that I will like to share with you all now. 8-Ball was intended to be the original blackened of the chapter, but after the realization that it was an all female surviving cast, I had swapped him with Liy to make up for it. (that wouldn't have been very pretty for loser, i must admit.) With this VERY important chapter, another thing had changed, and that was the execution!

There was another execution concepts that were made, which will be showed below:

Liy is strapped to a metal pole, as she looks around frantically to try to find a way to escape. She tries to untie the ropes, but as she does, the pole begans to lower down to a bunch of grinding gears. It cuts up her body, leaving her badly wounded and bruised. The gears grinding get more intense and faster as she keeps on being lowered. Once she reaches the floor, she's all cut up and dead.

Now, one final important note is the Chapter 6 that would've happened if there weren't the 4 deaths in Chapter 5! Infact, Gelatin and Pencil were both intended to die in that now nonexistent Chapter 6. The basis would've went like this:

Pencil decides to break one of the rules of Monoroku's game by going out after 10PM. She does this because she hears footsteps outside while she was attempting to sleep. She decided to stay up all night, tramuatized by the realization that Liy, one of her other closest friends were dead and that she wasn't sure how long she could survive. She decides to take the risk of dying, knowing that she would be able to join her friends in the afterlife. She heads out, slowly opening her door and noticing Gelatin as he walks past the hallway and turns a corner where Pencil gets to hear a bit of conversation. With even more suspicison, she goes over to the corner to watch them and listen in to the conversation. Gelatin basically says how much fun it is to see everyone in so much pain and how it's so funny and all fun and games. This pisses Pencil off big time as she goes and strangle Gelatin as soon as he finishes the conversation and turns the corner to see her.Pencil confronts Gelatin, yelling in pain. She wanted to avenge all of her friends and clearly wasn't thinking straight as she slowly makes him lose his oxygen and kill him. Out of anger and fear, she turns over to Monoroku who was just standing there with an hurt expression. He hadn't processed how he was maniuplated yet, going to firmly tell Pencil that he won't punish her due to her killing Gelatin and her eventual execution would occur. Pencil knows exactly what he meant, and goes to go and put his body up against his room's door for everyone to see. She gets quite hesitant during the trial to confess, but eventually gets the courage to and admits her crimes, shouting out at Monoroku that he got maniuplated and he needs to end the killing game. Monoroku then only realizes, but the voting was already cast and Pencil gets executed. this case would've otherwise been impossible but pencil decides to be selfless and saves the rest of the cast from Gelatin's and Monoroku's wrath.

There was also an Pencil execution drawing made before the change was made to move it to Chapter 5.

Now otherwise, that's about it!

Thank you for anybody reading this, and have this funny gelatin blood drawing i made

Lastly, I'd just like to say a little something...
A sequel may come out. Maybe not. I'll simply say that if so, it'll be much more brutal than the first book. :)

Bye! :D

yellow face relationship headcanons [1/19/22]

definitely didn't forget this book existed. nope!

well, i finally have shit to share, which, i think migth be a fun read for anyone interested since ive been trying to develop yf in my hcs a lot more lately esp with the amount of potiental he has with othjers. oh btw this is mostly supposed to be humanized but you can interept it as objects if it fits! which idk about u i dont rlly think so lol yellow face probably is a very old contestant, most likely one of the oldest being currently in his 30s-40s. he probably is a very retro sorta person, having advertised back in the old days before retiring and coming back again. the person that used to be the closest to him is purple face, who is a few years younger then him.

the two used to be childhood friends turned business partners, until a conflict broke out between the two which had made yf ditch pf and go solo business-wise. he probably ended up kidnapping him sometime later and trapping him in the cage / box thing we see in bfb 21 :)

though a few years later on he had probably ended up meeting lollipop at a cafe or something, maybe lollipop was like a barista of sorts at the time and they became quick friends since lollipop when she was younger actually saw yf as a rolemodel! i think he would've actually mentored lollipop for a bit, teaching her his ways of business even if it wasn't the most practical way of doing it. also it was mostly platonic i don't really think they wouldve had anything too romantic between them esp since lollipop is like in her 20s or early 30s which is kinda a weird age gap for anything?? romantic?

i see after like a few years of mentoring her, he had decided to retire for an unknown amount of time while lollipop continued on with her own business with the products we see in the show like the fork repellent. she's sorta grown from yf's old ways, mostly being more of a sly businessowman then anything now.

yellow face probably had stopped once he had came back out of retirement and is sorta a much more genuine person overall, though more cold due to him not wanting to use up his energy to fake out anything unless it's for things such as advertisements in which he tends to get really snappy afterwards. so when lollipop and yf had met after he went out of retirement, hijinks insue and now they hate eachother.

i think after this time is when he began to come off as "racist" or just having a hatred for the color purple due to his deep association with 2 people he had considered close at one point and having to cut contact with them. he's sorta grown spiteful and all over it, which could make him come off as psychopathic and cold towards others.

though this is about all ive gathered, i hope to use this little book more since i like sharing headcanons nad just expressing what i think about things ^^ hope this read was somewhat interesting!

yf has always been an interesting character to me and im trying to do my own take on him~ since... yeah, i do have psychopathic headcanons about him at times but im sorta trying to derive from that and make him more of an ass then somebody who's insane
